President Glover to Retire.

Mr. Roffe E. Glover, the efficient President of the Common Council, still adheres to his determination not to again be a candidate for a seat in that body from Monroe Ward. Mr. Glover has made an Montoe Ward. Mr. Glover has made an able representative of the people and a most worthy presiding officer. He entered the Council eight years ago, He has been re-elected three times. On the floor he proved himself an able debater and was ever alert to the interest of his constitutions. ever alert to the interest of his constituents and the city at large. Four years ago next July Mr. Glover became President of the lower branch of the City Council. He soon demonstrated that a wise choice had been made, though he was one of the youngest presidents the body had ever had. Being a successful business-man, he applied business principles to the direction of municipal affairs that came before his branch. President Glover in his rulings has never shown partiality, and has therefore constantly enjoyed the esteem and confidence of all the members. It is likely that his mantle as President of the Common Council will fall upon either Mr. Joseph Wallerstein, of Madison Ward; Mr. George B. Levis, of Jefferson Ward, or Mr. James Caskie, of Monroe Ward, should these gentlemenbe returned to the Council.

Mr. John F. The Hunting Circus Next Week.

The circus is coming. Next Monday, at the head of Clay street, Hunting's ratiroad show will pitch its tents, and the public, after many months, will again be delighted with the alluring attraction of the sawdust ring.

This season Mr. Hunting, the veteran clown and showman, has abandoned the menagerie feature of the conventional circus, and devoted the space to a presentation of the daring acts of featless acrobats and bareback riders. The concert performers this season will be the best in the history of this show.

The circus will show at the head of Clay street April 6th and 7th, and at the corner of Twenty-eighth and P streets on the 8th and 9th.

Morrison Here fo-Morrow.

To-morrow evening and at a special matinee on Thursday fiterpoon, Mr. Lewis Morrison will present "Faust" at the Academy of Music. Thursday evening will witness the first appearance in this city of Morrison in Bulwer's drama, "Cardinal Richelieu." Comparisons are often odious, especially if one has an inferior article which he wishes to sell, but it is by comparison and contrast that an article of sterling worth and merit gains both friends and admirers, and it is to this that "Faust," as presented by Lewis Morrison, owes much of its reputation, standing as it does at the head of spectacular scenic and electrical productions of the decade. A TERRIFIC CYCLONE

IN THE VICINITY OF RURAL RE-TREAT, WYTHE COUNTY.

Tracts of Timber Levelled, Barns Blown Down, and Fencing Destroyed-Killed by a Falling Tree-Women Drowned.

RURAL RETREAT, VA., March 30 (Special.)-The most disastrous cyclone that ever visited this section of the State ing Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. It lasted for about twenty minutes, and during that time nearly devastated several farms. It came from the northwest, and I learn of no serious damage done to property west of this place. Only the edge of the storm struck this town, and that did no damage to property here, but from its path in the country come reports of great destruction. It first struck a plece of woodland, belonging to George Walters, about a mile and a half northeast of town. The boundary contained about ten acres of very valuable timbered land, and not a single tree is left

IMMENSE FORCE.

Next, a boundary of about twenty acres of woodland, belonging to Mr. Jacob Lambert, was struck and trees were up-rooted, and in some instances carried for over 100 feet. St. Paul's church, near Lambert's, sustained considerable damage, having several windows broken and the churchyard and graveyard completely covered with debris. Mr. Lambert's corn-crib, containing several hun-dred bushels of corn, was blown some distance, and the corn scattered over about ten acres of ground.

HEAVY RAIN. The roof was blown from P. G. Perry's barn, and several of his outbuildings de-stroyed. Reports say there is not a single froce left in that whole section of country. The rainfall immediately after the cyclone had passed was terrific, and the streams were much swollen. Reed creek became an immense river, and farms lying the low-lands were much swollen Reed creek became an immense river, and farms tying in the low-lands 'i-nearly all the fences. A bridge on Norfolk and Western railroad near Ch howee was washed out of line, delaying the trains about ten hours.

REPORTED LOSS OF LIFE A report comes from Black Lick that a colored man caught in the woods near there, was killed by a tree blowing down on him. His is the only life losi so far reported. Old citizens say that this was reported. Old citizens say that this was decidedly the most terrible cyclone ever known about here. The damages to farms in destroying timbers, &c., is variously estimated at from $10,009 to $55,000. The Crescent Horse-Shoe Works at Max Meadows has closed down temporarily on account of the high water, the whole plant being flooded. Considerable damage to property is reported from the New river districts.

Depot Struck by Lightning and Burned-Loss of Life.

BRISTOL, TENN., March 30 .- (Special) There was a great rainfall in Southwest Virginia, commencing at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and lasting until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Boston earned four of their twelve runs, and the 'Varsity all of their three. The special features were the heavy hitting of the Bostons and the three-obager by Bonney, of the 'Varsity, and the two doubles by Hurt.

Stivetts, Mains, and Sullivan did the twirling for the Bean-eaters, and up behind the bat were Hyan and Tenney. McGuire and Lockett pitched for the college men, and Marshall caught. A pretty feature was the presentation to Captain Duffy of a beautiful umbrella and cane by Captain McGuire, of the Virginias, as a token of the interest and good will of the 'Varsity for him. He has been coaching them for the last month, and has made a host of friends.

The Bostons leave Wednesday for Lynchburg, where they are billed to play the professionals of that place, and on Thursday they play against Roanoke, returning here Saturday.
